Montpelier, Dec. 8, 2015 – Brault's Market, LLC, a Troy, VT establishment, is recalling approximately 50 pounds of fresh kielbasa product due to misbranding and undeclared allergens, the Vermont Agency of Agriculture, Food and Markets Meat Inspection Section (VAAFM) announced today. The products contain soy, a known allergen, which is not declared on the product label.

The kielbasa items were produced on 10/01/15. The following products are subject to recall:

- 1-1.5 pound packages labeled "Fresh Kielbasa", with the code date of "511001"

The product subject to recall bears establishment number "EST. VT10" inside the Vermont mark of inspection. These items were sold exclusively from Brault's Market, LLC, in Troy, VT, from October 1, 2015 to December 9, 2015.

The problem was discovered by VAAFM inspection personnel during in-plant verification activities.

There have been no confirmed reports of adverse reactions due to consumption of these products. Anyone concerned about an allergic reaction, injury or illness should contact a healthcare provider.

Consumers who have purchased these products are urged not to consume them. These products should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

VAAFM routinely conducts recall effectiveness checks to verify recalling firms notify their customers of the recall and that steps are taken to make certain that the product is no longer available to consumers.

Consumers and media with questions about the recall can contact Anthony Brault or Kathy Couture, (Co-Owners), at (802) 744- 2271.

Recall Classifications based on USDA

Class I	This is a health hazard situation where there is a reasonable probability that the use of the product will cause serious, adverse health consequences or death.
Class II	This is a health hazard situation where there is a remote probability of adverse health consequences from the use of the product.
Class III	This is a situation where the use of the product will not cause adverse health consequences.
